Warden Says State Pen 'Hole' Must Go

Security Building Sought

Hann Says Cost At Least $150,000

"The 'hole' must go!" Warden H. H. Hann of the Nebraska Penitentiary said Tuesday.

"If the state is going to have a modern prison it will require construction of a modern maximum security building with separate yard where incorrigible prisoners can get outdoor exercise and still be kept from other prisoners.

"It is only about 10 per cent of our inmate population that causes trouble. Other prisoners fear them, but trouble is bound to occur if they mingle.

"It was with this thought in mind that I recommended a survey of expert penologists that would be selected by the national association such as they have just completed in South Dakota. They know the problems and the best possible solutions.

Cost High

"Costs would be high, possibly $150,000 to $200,000. I hesitated to suggest such an outlay of money without others supporting my stand. I think events of the past week should cause me to speak out.

"This has been part of my long-range planning, but I believe that those who are trying to rehabilitate themselves should be given first consideration rather than the trouble-makers. We are completing separate housing for trustees that will provide improved quarters. This will provide an incentive to behave for every man sentenced.

"Elimination of the 'hole' should follow soon. We cannot dispense with it until we have a better place to house the unruly. I hope that soon we can provide that even the incorrigibles can get exercise and be able to eat elsewhere than in their cells.

"The state has been educating me as warden for five years and I have endeavored to learn all I could. I have attended five prison congresses where I discussed problems with other wardens from all parts of the U.S.

'Holes Eliminated'

"Wherever possible on business trips I have visited other penitentiaries in search of ideas. I have visited over a half dozen prisons in search of information. I find that nearly all of the larger prisons now have maximum security sections and have eliminated 'holes.' I have visited very few of the smaller prisons and do not know what they are doing."

Warden Hann said that he thought the building should be built to house 50 to 75 men. The high price he attributed to soaring prices of prison equipment.

He said prisoners have been unsettled for several days due to the publicity given the institution but started settling down Tuesday after the Board of Control 10-point program became public.

"We started work immediately on the suggestions given by the board and anticipate an end to the unrest will follow." He indicated some changes will be made in the guard force as soon as suitable replacements can be found.

"For months we have had orders with an employment service for applicants and I have asked every county sheriff in the state to recommend appointees. We are now short five to seven guards."

Changes in guards, the warden said, probably will go to dropping those guards who are "a bit too old." One employee is 80 years of age and several are in their 70s.

However, the warden hastened to say, he will not release old and experienced guards merely to make changes.

B-47s ARRIVE

The first B-47 six-jet bomber to arrive at Lincoln Air Force Base made a number of "touch-and-go" landings at the base (top left) to test flight patterns before coming in for its final landing with its "slow-down" parachute opened behind Col. Claude Putnam, the pilot (right) then clambered down from the craft and pulled his helmet from "my sore ears" (Star Photos.)

With A Blasting Roar, First B-47s Touch Down At Air Base

By BARCLAY BAYLEY
Star Staff Writer

Sleek and shining, the first two B-47 jet bombers whistled into Lincoln Air Force Base Tuesday afternoon.

The primary weapon of the Strategic Air Command has arrived to join the 30-odd KC-97 aerial tankers already at the base. The B-47s were flown from the factory at Wichita, Kan., in a little over half an hour by Col. Claude E. Putnam, commander of the 818th Air Division, and Col. William F. Coleman, commander of the 98th Bombardment Wing.

The 600-m.p.h. planes approached the city at a very high altitude, trailing the characteristic plume of frozen vapor—contrails. After a series of passes across the city at that altitude the planes dropped down to a few thousand feet.

Both pilots then tested the approach patterns which had been devised for landings and takeoffs. These patterns, officials at the base explained, have been set up to minimize the amount of travel over the city.

It was emphasized, however, that it would not be possible always to avoid flying over Lincoln. Wind and weather will sometimes make it necessary to approach or take off over town.

One of the prime reasons for bypassing populated areas as much as possible is the noise—a tremendous, crackling blast from white-hot tail pipes of the six engines.

The noise element was dramatically apparent as the two ships made their passes at the base. In approach they were almost impossible to hear. As soon as they passed the bystander and began to climb away, a roaring struck with the suddenness of a cannon's blast.

After an hour and a half of test flights a small parachute suddenly popped from behind the tail of one of the swept-wing atom bombers. This slow-down device signalled that the pilot was ready to make his final landing. After several landings where the wheels just touched and the plane roared off again.

As the 200,000-pound craft slid toward the runway's end, trailing a long ribbon of black smoke, the outlandish-looking "bicycle" landing wheels poked from the plane's belly. Two tiny "casters" descended from the engine pods of the drooping wings.

As the wheels scraped with a screech and the odor of burned rubber a larger, second chute appeared behind the plane. This was to save the brakes and enable the pilot to stop faster.

The plane, jets whining and wings drooping like a mother hen's, teetered to a stop before a waiting group of officers and wives.

Considered a medium bomber by the Air Force 90 of the huge planes will be assigned to the base by summer of 1955.

Carrying 20,000 pounds of bombs each, the planes will add a mighty wallop to the base arsenal.

'55 To Please All But Farmers—Economists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The year 1955 should please almost everybody, if administration economists are right. They say prices are due to go down and profits up.

Giving their appraisal of the economic outlook in interviews, they forecast a slow but fairly steady downward trend of retail prices during much if not all of the coming year.

They predicted that the consumer may find that his income dollar has gained 2 to 2½ cents in buying power a year from now.

Nevertheless businessmen can expect a moderate rise in profits, reversing the 1954 trend of lowered corporation earnings, said officials in close touch with business conditions.

In fact, almost everyone except the farmer seems to be a potential gainer in 1955. Farm prices will decline slightly, the Agriculture Department has predicted officially, but farmers' costs are expected to drop also. So the department thinks the farmer's real income should be well sustained.

Some major unions, sharing the official view that living costs will come down, are scrapping the escalator clauses in their wage contracts, to avoid losing a portion of the pay boosts that came along automatically when prices were inflated.

Price Dip

The 15 non operating railroad brotherhoods, representing about 825,000 workers, yesterday headed off a 1-cent hourly wage cut due on January 1 because of the autumn fall price dip.

The brotherhoods reached agreement with major railroads to abolish the escalator clause entirely. The roads agreed, at the same time, that 13 cents of hourly gain since 1951 by a succession of living-cost increases would become part of the regular hourly

Eye Safe; Boy Goes Home Happy

Five-year-old Lawrence Clark of 5031 Washington walked out of Bryan Memorial Hospital Tuesday a very happy lad.

The doctors had told the youth his eye had been saved. It had been touched and go since a five-year-old playmate had accidentally stabbed Lawrence in the eye with a knife several weeks ago.

The joy of returning home was clouded with the possibility that the boy might develop a cataract resulting in complete or partial blindness in the eye.

"There is a possibility of retaining some vision in the eye," an attending physician stated. Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clark.

Ellender Predicts Battle For Ike On Foreign Aid

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said Tuesday President Eisenhower would have "a damn hard battle" to get the money for foreign aid programs in the Democratic-controlled session of Congress in January.

Ellender, slated for chairmanship of the Senate Agricultural Committee, made the comment in an interview with the New Orleans States.

Ellender said foreign expenditures are going to take a back seat to domestic problems.

"They're trying to get a (foreign aid) program somewhat like they had in Europe," Ellender said.

"If the President makes a mistake and comes up with another program of that kind, and neglects

Flood Control

The senator said he conferred with the President about river and flood control problems about a week ago. Ellender said the President told him what money was available would go to foreign aid.

The Louisiana senator said the President's attitude was that Ellender should get the money and the President would give him "all the help you need."

Ellender said the President just laughed the problem off and said "I should get him the tax money."

"When it comes to foreign aid," Ellender said, "his attitude is different. He's adamant about helping foreign neighbors. Then we're in 'grave danger' and we can't wait for the taxes."

Lot To Say

Ellender said he would "have a lot to say about money in the coming Congress and I say we are going to raise the ante on our domestic expenditures and curtail our foreign programs."

"I will be in a position to watch all expenditures, foreign and domestic," Ellender said. "and I am going to object vociferously to any administration program that neglects our own natural resources in favor of foreign aid."

Ellender said he thought the President "is a great leader and a great soldier, but in my humble opinion, it requires more than that to make a good President."

HIS BRIDGES ARE BURNED

Hall Says Joe Made 'Major Error' In Charging Ike Shows Weakness Toward Chinese Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy publicly assailed President Eisenhower Tuesday in what looked like a burn-the-bridges break with the administration.

He accused the President of congratulating senators who hamper "the exposure of Communism" and of putting up a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Red Chinese who "are torturing and brainwashing American unformed men."

The Wisconsin Republican, who scorned to apologize for conduct for which the Senate condemned him last week, apologized instead Tuesday for telling the voters in 1952 that election of Eisenhower would spell a vigorous fight against Communism.

"I was mistaken," he said.

Quick Response

The White House, with President Eisenhower's approval, quickly put out figures to show the administration has been tough on Communism. It also called attention to Eisenhower's recent remarks that this country must not let itself be goaded into war by Red Chinese acts.

IKE DEFENDED

preted by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) as open "political war" with the administration, set politicians to figuring the possible effects on the 1956 presidential fight.

Asked if he would join a third party movement McCarthy said: "I have no interest whatsoever at the present time in a third party. I intend to work in the Republican party."

The qualification "at the present time" was not lost on newsmen. Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a statement saying: "Strange Company"

"Sen. McCarthy has made a major error. Without attempting to evaluate his fight against communism, I regret to find him in what must be strange company to him, making a personal attack on the President of the United States.

"The record of the Eisenhower administration on the Communist menace both at home and abroad speaks for itself. I do not think it is necessary to remind the people that President Eisenhower was fighting the Communists quite a few years before Sen. McCarthy made his maiden speech on the subject in the Senate."

What effect McCarthy's course might have on the fortunes of the Republican party only the future could determine. But Flanders, a McCarthy adversary, said it meant that McCarthy has "declared political war—he wishes a split."

McCarthy's attack came in the form of a prepared-in-advance statement which he read at a meeting of his investigations subcommittee. It is currently receiving testimony on Communists in defense jobs.

McCarthy, to the applause of some of the spectators in the hearing room, declared: "...the President on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American unformed men in Communist dungeons."

Last Sunday the President commended Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a "very splendid job" as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy for his conduct. The Senate condemned 67-22 McCarthy's conduct on two counts—that he obstructed a Senate committee's work in 1951-52 and insulted fellow senators.

McCarthy said Tuesday he felt he should apologize for telling the people in 1952 that election of an Eisenhower administration would mean "a vigorous, forceful fight against Communists in government."

YOSHIDA, FACING OUSTER, QUILTS Hatoyama To Be Prime Minister

...Insists He's Pro-American

TOKYO (Wednesday AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, who once fell afoul of occupation authorities but insists, he is pro-American, emerged today as the likely successor to the resigned prime minister, Shigeru Yoshida.

A coalition of Conservatives and Socialists in the Diet (parliament) is expected to vote tomorrow or Friday. It is almost certain Hatoyama will be named prime minister, at least for the present.

The change-over will not affect such policies as the U. S. base agreement, but Hatoyama wants trade and diplomatic relations with Communist China. Hatoyama is, however, an avowed anti-Communist.

Hatoyama

Hands In Resignation

Yoshida yesterday turned in the resignation of his cabinet, which becomes effective when a new prime minister is elected, under pressure of the coalition. Opponents denounced him as dictatorial and reactionary.

Starting with strong backing of U. S. occupation authorities, Yoshida had guided Japan through seven tumultuous years of recovery, the last six consecutively.

He quit a few hours before the Democrats (conservative) and the left and right wing Socialists had scheduled a no-confidence vote. Together, they had the votes.

Yoshida's Liberals (also conservative) persuaded him to reverse his stand for dissolving the Diet and calling for new elections, which none of the Conservatives wanted. They feared a surge of Socialist strength in any new elections.

Want A Neutral Role

The Socialists, who want to junk Japan's pro-Western policies and take a neutral role in the cold war, were willing to support Hatoyama but insisted the new cabinet be just a caretaker regime until elections are held.

Hatoyama said he would consider sentiment for a new election.

The Liberals were expected to name Deputy Prime Minister Tak

Reformatory Escapees Get 2 More Years

Two State Reformatory escapees, who hid in the reformatory's carpenter shop for nearly 56 hours before "going over the fence," have been given additional two-year terms by the Lancaster District Court.

Robert G. Nicholson, 22, from Sutherland and Elmer Schutz, 25, from Edgar, Mont., pleaded guilty to charges of escaping from the Reformatory on Nov. 5.

Judge Harry Spencer, who pronounced sentence, was informed the two inmates stole a car in Lincoln in making their escape and later abandoned it in Oklahoma.

On Nov. 30 they were apprehended at Theford, Neb., in another car with Tennessee license plates, and were returned to the Reformatory.

The escape terms are to commence when the two men complete service in the Penitentiary on their present terms. Schutz was serving a 12-to-18 month term given July 24, 1954, for making a no-fund check and Nicholson was serving a 24-to-26 month sentence given Aug. 2, 1954, for assault with intent to commit rape. Both sentences had been given by the Lincoln County District Court.

Pay Raise Asked For Reformatory

George Norris, superintendent of the Men's Reformatory, said he is assuming the Board of Control, in granting a $20 a month pay increase to guards and officers at the Penitentiary, meant to include Reformatory guards.

Morris said he will fill out a salary change form for each of his 71 employees.

Salaries at the two institutions, among the 17 supervised by the board, have been comparable.

Margaret Marshall was revealed as the FFA queen in the presence of 200 guests at the annual Future Farmers of America banquet at Northeast High School Tuesday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marshall, 5419 Huntington.

Attendants were Pat Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Everett, R.F.D. 3, and Carol Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Barnes, 5700 Baldwin. The queen and attendants were chosen by members of the FFA.

Jim Lee, president of the FFA, crowned the queen and presided at the program. It included a talk by Mrs. Helen Krause, Northeast guidance teacher, and the reception of honorary members, R. S. Mickle, Northeast principal; and Jess Williams, father of a Northeast graduate and State Farmer award winner, Henry Williams.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson made clear on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor that there will be no further major reductions in military spending until the world situation takes a definite turn for the better.

The secretary told a news conference that there may in fact be some increase in spending in a drive to produce more new weapons. He said 33 billion dollars would be a "rock bottom" military budget, and that it could go from the present level of 35 billion up to 37 billion dollars.

Higher Winds To Bring Snow In The East

Eastern Nebraskans — including Lincolites — can look for light snow and increasing northerly winds Wednesday, according to Weather Bureau forecasts.

The increasing winds were to begin in the western part of the state early Wednesday morning and the outlook was for colder temperatures in the west with the mercury topping at the middle or lower 30s.

Through next Sunday, the extended forecast of the bureau calls for higher-than-normal daytime readings. Those temperatures are expected to average around the normal, near 15.

The Times, an unofficial service weekly, said a New York Guard report shows Cohn attended only 56 per cent of his required drills, while he should have attended at least 90 per cent. The story did not say what period of time the report covered.

Back In 1952 Joe And Ike Campaigned Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back in 1952, President Eisenhower and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) campaigned together in the senator's home state.

For what has happened since, here is a list of some of the events and statements leading up to Tuesday's accusation by McCarthy that the President has shown weakness toward Communism:

June 5, 1952—Eisenhower said he would favor ridding the government of subversives "without besmirching the reputation of any innocent man or condemning by loose association."

Aug. 22, 1952—Eisenhower said Gen. George C. Marshall, who had been attacked by McCarthy, was "a perfect example of patriotism and loyal service to the United States."

Methods

Oct. 3, 1952—Eisenhower, speaking in Wisconsin, said the purposes that he and McCarthy had "of ridding the government of . . . the subversives and disloyal are one and the same." He said their differences applied to methods.

Oct. 4, 1952—McCarthy denied published reports he had persuaded Eisenhower to drop from a Wisconsin speech a defense of Gen. Marshall.

Dec. 10, 1952—McCarthy said "Communist thinkers" were trying to invade the incoming Eisenhower administration . . . It's the logical thing for them to do."

March 27, 1953—McCarthy voted against Eisenhower's nomination of Charles E. Bohlen to be ambassador to Russia.

March 30, 1953 — Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen accused McCarthy of undermining the administration's efforts to curb trade with the Communists, by negotiating with ship owners on his own.

Infringement

April 2, 1953—Eisenhower said he did not think McCarthy had tried to undermine the U.S. trade efforts, and that Stassen probably meant infringement rather than undermining.

April 27, 1953—McCarthy said the Eisenhower loyalty - security program was "a tremendous improvement over the old (Truman) method."

June 17, 1953—Eisenhower refused to tell reporters whether a speech he delivered against "book burning" applied to McCarthy. He said he never talked personalities.

Nov. 24, 1953—McCarthy disagreed with Eisenhower's expressed hope that communism would not be an issue in the 1954 campaign. The senator also said "our batting average has not been so good" with respect to loyalty purges and Korean matters.

Dec. 3, 1953—McCarthy asked the nation to pass judgment on whether he or the President was right on the question of granting any aid to nations trading with Red China. He denied he was challenging the President's party leadership.

Purge

Dec. 13, 1953—McCarthy disputed a statement by Atty. Gen. Brownell that the government's purge of federal employees suspected of Red tendencies was successful. "I don't think the job is ended," the senator said.

March 3, 1954—Eisenhower criticized McCarthy's treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general was a witness before him, without actually naming McCarthy. The senator commented that apparently he and Eisenhower disagreed "only on how we should handle those who protect communists."

March 17, 1954—Eisenhower, defending Secretary of the Army Stevens from criticism by McCarthy, said among the fears besetting Americans is the one of "what unwise investigators will do to us . . . as they try to combat subversion." McCarthy replied he didn't "give a tinker's dam how high or low are the people in either the Republican or Democratic parties who are unhappy about our methods."

High-Level Meet

May 17, 1954—Eisenhower ordered Army Counsel John G. Adams not to testify about a high-level meeting at which Adams said he was advised to make a written record of his troubles with the senator. McCarthy commented that the White House had "made a great mistake" by pulling down what he called this presidential "Iron Curtain."

May 22, 1954—McCarthy said Eisenhower's advisers were advising him "against his own good" on "the rule by secrecy."

July 11, 1954—Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin said it was he, rather than McCarthy, who got the President to delete his praise of Gen. Marshall from the 1952 campaign speech in Wisconsin.

Dec. 4, 1954—President Eisenhower told Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) he had done a "very splendid job" as chairman of the committee which recommended Senate censure of McCarthy.

Dec. 7, 1954—McCarthy said Eisenhower congratulates those senators "who hold up the exposure of Communists" while urging patience toward the Communist Chinese captors of American fighting men.

By Way Of Education

Sensibly Lincoln's Council delayed action Monday on a proposed ordinance seeking to outlaw sale and distribution of the vicious comic book. The Council permitted the ordinance to go over for a week, possibly to be dropped in the form in which it was originally presented, with full approval of the introducer.

Fact is that in getting at the undesirable type of comic book, a lot of other areas may be affected adversely.

We have some pretty rugged history coming out of early Nebraska. If the ordinance which was sidetracked by the Council had been in force and applied literally to the letter of its prohibitions, it might become necessary to revise the files of the Nebraska State Historical Society. Those files are the story of Nebraska life and it happens that life even in the heroic days of the early settlements, particularly in the war upon lawlessness, was not always pretty.

We think there can be common agreement upon the desirability of a wholesome atmosphere for the younger generation. The means of achieving that are not always simple nor certain.

Perhaps in the long-run, education carried out in the spirit of patience and dedication offers the most desirable and sound approach.

Joe's 'Swan' Song

Could be that in addition to other qualities, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has a gift which can be described as an intuitive feel for history.

In what he described as "something of a temporary swan song," Sen. McCarthy gave out a statement constituting a slashing attack upon President Eisenhower. He accused the Chief Executive of congratulating senators who hold up the exposure of Communists, and of urging tolerance for Chinese Communists who torture American soldiers.

Pretty tough, harsh language in the best McCarthy tradition! The statement as carried

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Virtually forgotten now in current discussion of Nebraska prison affairs is the remarkable record of the late W. T. (Billy) Fenton, for many years warden of the Nebraska penitentiary. Mr. Fenton made a contribution which never has been fully appreciated by Nebraska's people. Big both physically and mentally, tender-hearted and understanding when the circumstances warranted, a man of decision and stout heart when called upon to exercise those qualities, Mr. Fenton was an ideal warden.

We talk about desirable, acceptable methods of prison management. On occasion we place emphasis upon technical training as a qualification for the discharge of a very difficult duty. If that is to suggest that there is a substitute for the individual qualities which distinguish one public official from another, then we are in the position of barking at the moon. Any reasonably common-sense system can and does work when men make it work. It is indeed an ancient system that prevents a warden of a penitentiary from developing the policies necessary to qualify the institution over which he presides as a well-handled penitentiary. We knew "Billy" Fenton well. The story of his administration of the Nebraska penitentiary is an inspiring one. Under it there was a heartening, sound improvement in the physical facilities of the prison. There was an intelligent, humane, sympathetic and yet a well-disciplined administration of prison affairs. That was so because Billy Fenton, everlastingly on the job, recognizing what his job required, made it so.

He had a capable staff, a staff that converted the atmosphere of Nebraska's penitentiary into the image of Billy Fenton himself—just, devout, a man of Christian conceptions in his relationships with his fellow men, including those who were his wards. He served as warden of the Nebraska penitentiary from 1914 until his retirement in 1934—an amazing span of 20 years covering a fourth of the Nebraska story as a state.

Probably Billy Fenton's key to success as the warden of Nebraska's penitentiary was his uncanny judgment of men, coupled with the gift for quick decision in an atmosphere where men have to think and act in the flash of an eye. He was a man of sound judgment in situations where the opportunity for reflections or study were limited or non-existent. Billy Fenton came to the Nebraska penitentiary in 1914 when the conditions which had developed were matters of great apprehension and concern to the people of the state. In the full sense of the word, he had had no technical training in penal administration. The late Gov. John H. Morehead of Falls City reached out and beckoned to a young law-enforcement officer—a man who had been elected sheriff, "Billy" Fenton, to take over. If a measure of Mr. Fenton's competency is desired, it should be remembered that he served first under Mr. Morehead, then former Gov. Keith Neville, then former Gov. Sam McKelvie, former Gov. Adam McMullen, then the late Charles Bryan, then the late Gov. Arthur Weaver, and again under former Gov. Bryan—four Democrats and three Republicans. We say he served under them. More accurately he served under the Board of Control which had come into being and which took over the administration of state institutions, including the state prison, the men's reformatory, the mental hospitals and others.

This is not to minimize the importance of improved prison management. It is, however, to point out what most people already know—namely, that a man possessed of the qualities needed can make the system work. Whether Gov. Crosby has made a contribution by suggesting a penal supervisor is not clear. There has to be one boss in charge of a prison. There cannot be two. The important thing is not necessarily a solution based upon new mechanics by way of a system but rather individual qualifications. It so happens that the late Warden Fenton not only was a great warden but a great man as well.

Genius For Sound Judgment

Little Blue towns have not done so much. In part this is attributable to location circumstances that have placed the sources of pollution farther away from the towns affected. However, hand-over on the Little Blue in Kansas has had initial engineering surveys made to study the problem, and Waterville, also south of the line, last June approved necessary bonds for a disposal plant there.

Kansas has lagged somewhat in swinging into line on this matter. The argument put forth there in the past, and one which has had a certain amount of justification, was that as long as Nebraska did little or nothing to curtail sewage dumping upstream, any effort on the part of Kansas would be for naught.

A Nevada City, Calif., woman brought home the bacon—and her husband cooked it. She put the evening's receipts from their place of business in the kitchen stove for supposed safe-keeping, and then neglected to tell her early-rising spouse the place of seclusion. He stirred up a costly breakfast next morning and their profits flew up the flue. A $175 meal is expensive—even for California.

This strategy seems to signal "go slow" to the Knowland wing of the GOP which has been trying to force Eisenhower to retreat from his China policy. But whether or not Republicans close ranks behind the President, Democrats will pursue it.

They also argue that as a practical matter they have no choice if they wish to win in 1956.

Democrats don't hate Eisenhower as many Republicans—and some Democrats—did Roosevelt. They don't believe him which was the treatment Truman got from the opposition. The picture they want to create is of a man put to work for which he is not suited, who won't read newspapers and does not keep a firm hand on the government or his party.

They also argue that as a practical matter they have no choice if they wish to win in 1956.

Dulles Pushes New Asia Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON—Ever since the election, when it became apparent that Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse would cast the deciding vote in the Senate, both Republican and Democratic leaders have been super-sweet to the independent senator they used to cold shoulder.

For example, Vice President Richard Nixon sidled up to Morse the other day and grabbed his hand.

"Wayne, I want to congratulate you on the high calibre campaign you conducted," boomed the vice president, referring to the past election campaign.

"Dick," retorted Morse evenly, "I wish I could say the same for you."

CABINET FEUD

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the man closest to Eisenhower, is embroiled in three backstage battles with cabinet colleagues. Their outcome will affect the economy of the United States for months to come. They might also lead to the exit of George Humphrey from official life.

Battle No. 1—is with Secretary of State Dulles, et al, over a huge new Marshall Plan for Asia. Humphrey is opposed on the ground that it will unbalance the budget. So far Dulles has won out.

Battle No. 2—is with Secretary of Agriculture Benson over the disposal of crop surpluses. Humphrey does not want them dumped abroad in any quantity on the argument that such dumping becomes an indirect crop subsidy.

Battle No. 3—is over loans to Latin America. Here the President's brother Milton, is on the other side of the fence—though not actively embroiled in the dispute.

Much more involved are Senators Capehart of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Congressman Fulton of Pennsylvania, who, though Republicans believe the GOP secretary of the treasury is too tight-fisted in loaning money to Latin America. They argue that the best way to prevent Communism is to help develop our good neighbors.

It was while Humphrey was in Rio de Janeiro fighting Battle No. 3 that he just about lost Battle No. 1. This is with John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold Stassen over a Marshall Plan to Asia.

Dulles, who was supposed to go to the Rio conference, decided not to go, appointed Humphrey as chief U. S. delegate—though not for the purpose of working behind Humphrey's back. While Humphrey was gone, however, he did get busy with some fast footwork which lined up part of the cabinet for the Asiatic Marshall Plan.

Meeting three times with Eisenhower, Dulles got his okay. Charles Wilson also concurred—provided the Marshall Plan went hand in hand with a bigger Army-Navy-Airforce. Eisenhower agreed.

Dulles then called a secret meeting of newsmen at a downtown hotel and leaked the idea that current American Economic policies with Asia were not good; that to remedy this Eisenhower had agreed to back his aid plan even if it meant unbalancing the budget.

Stassen, who was already sold on the idea, quickly called newsmen to a similar confidential luncheon. Charley Wilson did likewise.

So when Humphrey got back from Rio, it was too late. He could have had a personal showdown with Ike and threatened his resignation, but Humphrey doesn't believe in operating that way.

This means that the Defense Department, instead of cutting back on spending, will ask Congress for $2,000,000,000 more. It also means that Dulles and Stassen will launch a giant development program in Asia which may last up to 20 years.

As a result, business in the USA should be good, though it will be inflationary, with an unbalanced budget—just as under the Democrats—just as was why Humphrey was against it.

Note—In his difference with Secretary Benson, Humphrey argues that Benson should limit the amount of surplus food the USA dumps abroad to $400,000,000. Benson wants to send all he can. Humphrey claims that surplus-food disposal might turn into price supports under another name, and that this stimulation of the market would encourage overproduction.

HANDMAID OF THE LORD

If Sen. Welker of Idaho is going to use the Bible in battling for Sen. McCarthy, he will have to get up early in the morning to better devout Mormon Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah.

Interrogating Sen. Bennett regarding his amendment to censure Joe for calling the Watkins committee unwitting handmaidens of Communism, Welker challenged: "The other day the senator referred to 'handmaid' as a vulgar expression."

"No," countered Bennett. "Yes, the senator did," insisted Welker, "though he may have stricken it out of the record. I shall check the record."

"I am sorry," corrected Bennett. "I said the definition was that 'handmaid' or 'handmaiden' was a servant of low degree. It does not seem to me that it imparts vulgarity."

The senator from Idaho went off on another tack. "Now I quote to the senator the words of Holy Scripture, and I am sure that he knows more about that than I do because he is a devout Christian man, not only in his own faith but in all faiths: 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord.'"

"That was the answer of the Mother of Christ to the Angel Gabriel, who brought her the message that she was to become the mother of Christ," concluded Welker triumphantly.

"I am sure," snapped back the senator from Utah, "that the person who said that felt that she was a person of low degree compared to Him from whom the message came."

DORIS FLEESON

A Loyal Opposition Changes Its Strategy

WASHINGTON—Democrats will no longer respect the privileged sanctuary from which President Eisenhower has operated in almost complete immunity from political criticism.

From now on he will be held strictly to account for his party and policy. His leadership will be subjected consistently to the kind of critical analysis which was a commonplace of life under Roosevelt and Truman.

This decision emerged clearly at New Orleans where the Democratic National Committee has just elected Paul Butler its new chairman. Sam Rayburn, prospective speaker of the House, said it for Congress. Governor-elect Averell Harriman of New York said it for the governors, and Adlai Stevenson said it for himself. The new Stevenson chairman, Paul Butler, chimed in promptly.

There was no demur from the second level of party leadership—members of the national committee and state chairmen—who were present in unusually large numbers. With a self-confidence apparently induced by their election successes they applauded in public—and in private said it had to be done.

Democrats don't hate Eisenhower as many Republicans—and some Democrats—did Roosevelt. They don't believe him which was the treatment Truman got from the opposition. The picture they want to create is of a man put to work for which he is not suited, who won't read newspapers and does not keep a firm hand on the government or his party.

This strategy seems to signal "go slow" to the Knowland wing of the GOP which has been trying to force Eisenhower to retreat from his China policy. But whether or not Republicans close ranks behind the President, Democrats will pursue it.

They also argue that as a practical matter they have no choice if they wish to win in 1956.

For they expect that the strength they mean to demonstrate in the next two years will force the Republicans, no matter how divided, to draft Eisenhower. Then their candidate, probably Stevenson, must face him again and if he has not been identified, thoroughly and unmistakably, with Republican errors, they have handicapped their own man.

As they see it, they will support Eisenhower in foreign policy because he follows the line they established. They expect to approve more liberal domestic legislation for which they cannot help the President getting a share of the credit, perhaps the biggest share in the popular mind.

Stevenson spent most of Sunday in New Orleans explaining to inquiring politicians that he had not meant to slam the door against another try for the presidency. In a postscript to his prepared text Saturday night he had said he could not spend as much time on party matters in the future.

The truth is that for the last two years the aggressive Steve Mitchell, who has just named his own successor as chairman, has hawked Stevenson around like a Hollywood agent with a star property like Marilyn Monroe.

Both Mitchell and Stevenson were appalled by the debts incurred in the 1952 defeat and by the dreary conditions within the organization. They felt they had a responsibility to put the party on its feet financially and organizationally.

Every Democratic gathering wanted Stevenson as a speaker. Mitchell put a price on him as high as the market would bear and remorselessly collected it. Stevenson, aware of how hard Mitchell worked, obliged.

In a sense his New Orleans postscript was a warning to Chairman Butler that that phase of the Mitchell days was gone forever. But he is a candidate, ready, willing and able.

Massive Retaliation Or Patience?

WASHINGTON—The direction of American foreign and military policy is in process of a significant reversal in line with President Eisenhower's historic press conference statement of last week stressing the need for America to have the "courage to be patient."

While it has not yet been written into the language of a National Security Council decision, there is increasing recognition that Communist aggression of a limited nature may occur in the future that will call not for all-out atomic warfare but for limited forces to repel and punish that aggression.

This represents a decided shift from the policy line in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' speech to the Council on Foreign Relations last January when he said that the basic decision was to "depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly by means and at places of our own choosing."

In the same speech Dulles said that local defenses would be reinforced by "massive retaliatory power." Rightly or wrongly, Western Europe took this to mean that any attempt to resist Communist aggression anywhere would mean the use of atomic and hydrogen bombs. Coupled with the H-bomb tests in the Pacific last March and the fall-out of radio-active ash on a Japanese fishing boat, this stirred a profound current of shock and fear among America's allies.

The President has been primarily responsible for moving away from the "massive retaliatory" concept. He has been influenced by the views of Gen. Matthew Ridgway, chief of staff of the Army, who at the President's request appeared before the National Security Council in the spring to present the case against the use of American sea and air power to save beleaguered Dien Bien Phu in Indochina. Ridgway insisted that there could be no "immaculate war" and that within a few days the call would go out for American ground troops, which were not available in anything like the numbers required.

On another critical issue in September the President sustained Ridgway when he overrode a three-to-one decision of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in favor of bombing Communist Chinese bases in the interior in retaliation for Red attacks on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy. Growing recognition of the need to fight local wars by limited means is further evidence of the influence of the Ridgway viewpoint. If it is finally formulated in a security council decision, it will be implemented in the new military budget in several ways, including in particular these two:

1. The reactivation of four or five training centers for ground forces in the United States preparatory to an increase in the number of ground divisions.

2. A moderate expansion of the defense production base to insure weapons for this enlarged force. Although it was generally overlooked, a suggestion of the change was contained in Dulles' Chicago speech. He reiterated that America must have the capacity "to respond at places and by means of our choosing." Then he added:

"This, however, does not mean that any local war would automatically be turned into a general war with atomic bombs being dropped all over the map."

It is, above all, the President's realization of the awful consequences of thermonuclear warfare that is responsible for the reorientation of policy now taking place. Even the question of further H-bomb tests is being warmly debated. Many eminent scientists believe that another series of tests, such as those of last February and March, would increase the radioactive content of the atmosphere to such an extent as to menace future generations, affecting the human germ cell in such a way as to increase greatly the birth of defectives.

So much stress has been put on the power of the new atomic and hydrogen weapons that the public has seemed to assume in the past that they contained a kind of magic insuring victory for America at little or no cost in blood, sweat and tears. Toward the end of the Korean War the clamor grew to use atomic bombs on Chinese centers. If the public is to share in part at least the President's realization of what these weapons mean, the AEC is going to have to be a lot less sensitive.

For his statement calling for the "courage to be patient" the President has won wide acclaim. But at the same time the Chinese Communists by their provocation and their intransigence are making it more and more difficult for Mr. Eisenhower to set the steady, resolute line which he believes is essential to see the West through the years of tension ahead.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Alas, the tax collector cometh. He cometh in a big brown envelope. And what he says is bad news:

"In order not to cause you unnecessary inconvenience... within 10 days... payment should be made."

I should mention that this is no minor thing. Like parking next to a fireplug, I have never seen a government so fussy about money. Should you tuck a bill or so in your foxy pocket, they clap you forthwith into fetters.

So naturally I must dust down to the collector's office and straighten out this misunderstanding.

There was quite a line of misunderstood people at the cashier's window.

"Sit down," said my gentleman. "What can we do for you today?" "Why," I said, "I have received a notice in the mail today that I am some 838 skins behind on the payoff. Also that I must pay this bundle within 10 days."

"And so?" said the collector. "No and so," I said brightly. "I do not have this amount at the moment. I speak now of cash and not of other values. Such as a warm heart, filled with love and a sense of duty."

"I am land poor," I said. "Having just purchased a bulldozed nest on a mountain side. The carpenter and electrician have had at me. The painters and hardware merchants have cleaned me out."

"However, this is a temporary matter. I am engaged in mighty works which may run up a score here and there. And I wanted you to be the first to know that you are first on the list."

"Why, this is a pretty tale," said the collector pulling a blackjack from his drawer. "And I cannot tell you how many times I have heard it. It is a good thing I am

Memories

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is the season again when we should be thinking of the spiritual blessings as set forth in the infallible teachings of the Holy Writ.

Give me the Christmas of love and when sleigh bells jingle, and deem the snow. And the local talent put on a play Which told the story of Christmas Day.

Twins cozy and warm in the old log house. Nothing was stirring, not even a mouse. When Ma and Pa snuggled down the stairs To the pair of socks on the rocking chair.

A bright red tie and some woolen mitts. A knitted vest, then called it quits. Just what he wanted, nothing more. Money was scarce and they were poor.

Like Christ, the Giver of all good things. They gave their all, a measure it brings. That gifts mean nothing unless the heart Within each present doth love impart.

not a weeping man," said the collector, "else the floor in here would be constantly damp."

"I should point out to you," I said firmly, "that I am Small Business. And hence much beloved by Congress. Especially when they are making speeches."

"I am also Free Enterprise and a taxpayer. In any case, an expectant taxpayer which is the same thing. I am not to be harried."

At this point, two burly guards dragged a small man from a sideroom.

"A complete confession," they said. "He ain't got the dough."

"Ah well," said the collector. "To the furnaces then. And don't forget the gold teeth."

"As for you," he said to me, "we do not intend to harry you. Only to hurry you. For Uncle Sugar must get his and I am the bagman appointed for the job."

"The Great White Father in Washington makes many presents to his children. Such as a first class Navy and Army. Not to mention the free trips for senators to see what legislation is needed in Paris."

"There is the matter of mimeographed speeches by cabinet members. Upkeep on government buildings. Stenographers. Investigators. Investigation of investigators. Censure of senators.

"We must also give quantities of cash to farmers," said the collector. "For otherwise they would sell butter and eggs at a reasonable price. And if the price were reasonable, you would buy it. Then you would have no money to pay taxes. Do I make myself clear?"

"You do, indeed," I said. "And what would be the result if I could not make this sum?"

"Why in that case," said the collector, "we would be forced to place you in boiling oil. Or perhaps have you torn by wild horses. Or maybe simply place you in the pokey until you are good and gray. Or vice versa."

"Will nothing melt your heart?" I cried.

"Oh, yes," said the collector. "Our hearts are specially contrived with a low melting point when heated with warm dollar bills. And in your case, my heart will soften for 838 of the best. Within 10 days. Let me say," said the collector, "that it has been a pleasure to do business with you."

The annual sale of Christmas seals for the continuing war against tuberculosis is under way again. So are a number of other campaigns for human welfare.

Most American people are generous and support these annual appeals because of their real interest in human happiness and betterment. There may be some who feel that there are too many claims on a person's giving—but not many.

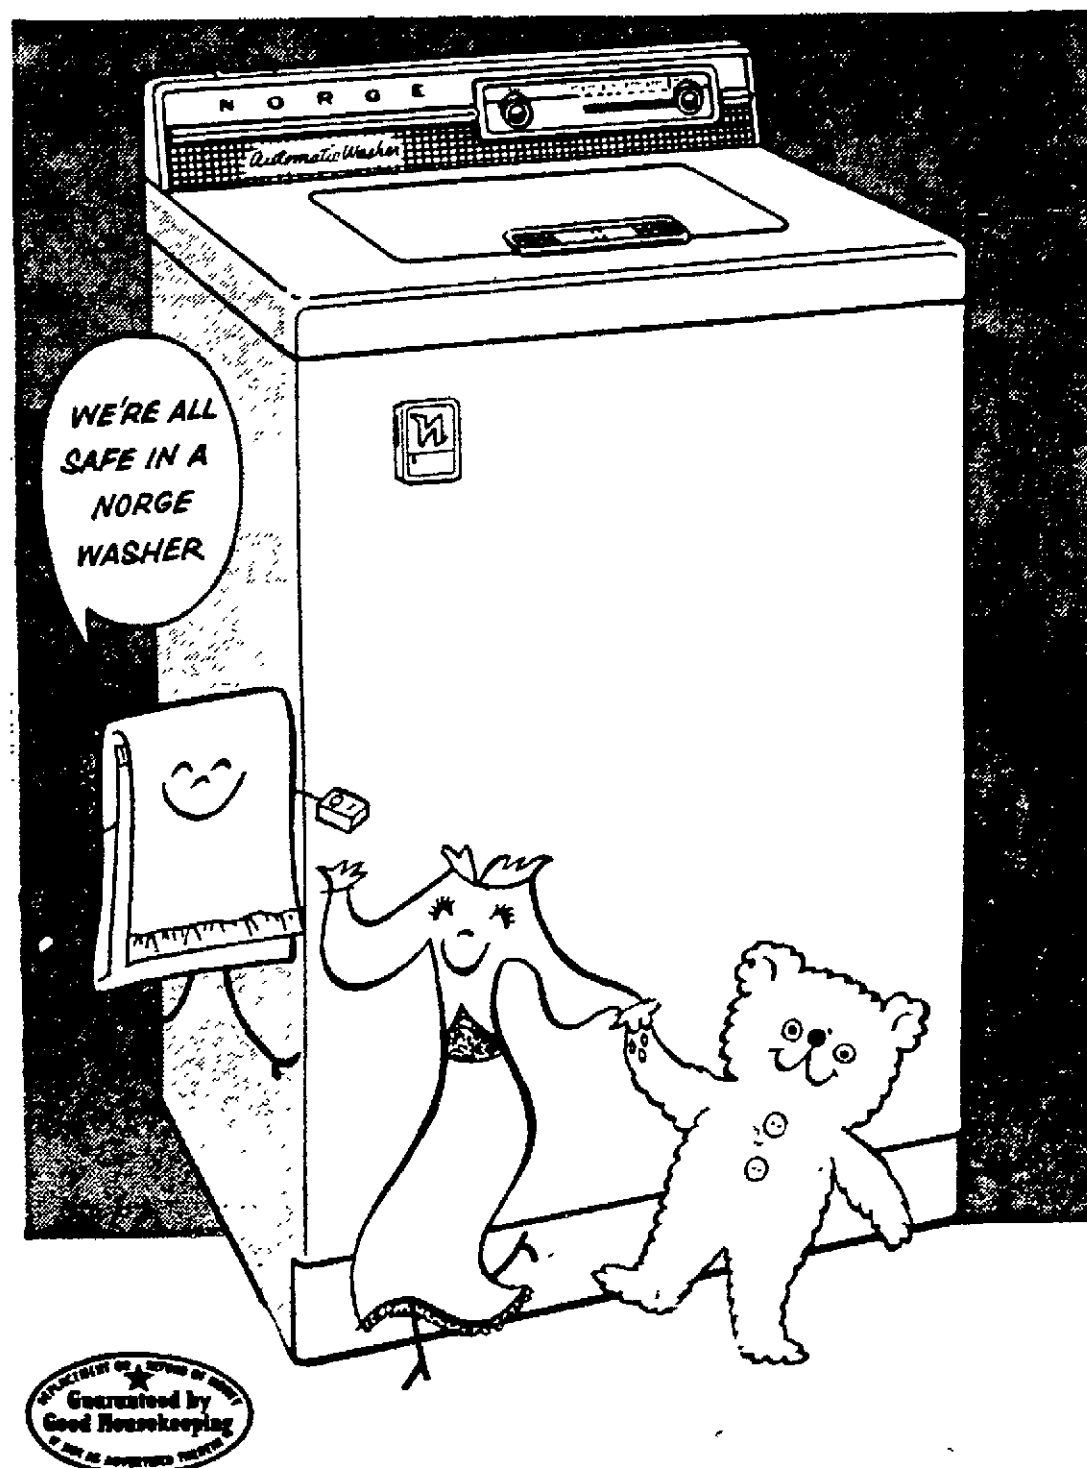

Free-will contribution for human betterment constitutes one of the loftier aspects of the American way of life and as these gift campaigns succeed year after year they demonstrate the practicability and the excellence of the democratic principle that people themselves are the best sovereigns and their collective action is the best way of solving collective problems.

Act Of Congress Suggested To Replace Compact Plan

Recommendation Will Serve As Guide To New Governors

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The Missouri River States Committee Tuesday recommended one more stab at trying to get Congress to authorize a compact negotiations for water use in the 10-state basin. The compact approach to management or operation of the river development program was approved at a meeting here a year ago. It was submitted to Congress and passed the Senate.

Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota, chairman of the basin states group, said the authorization bill died in the House after it was resisted by federal agencies involved.

The action taken was a recommendation to guide seven new governors among the 10 who will compose the committee after inaugurations early next year.

Several members of the committee expressed themselves in favor of junking the compact plan which the committee has been studying and revising for five years. They proposed instead an act of Congress which would embody most of the partnership principles of the compact.

Speedier Method
Gail Ireland, representing Colorado, suggested it would be speedier for the Missouri River States Committee and its working partner, the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee, to obtain legal recognition through an act of Congress. "Is it sound to tie ourselves down with a solemn compact which may take 20 years to negotiate?" Ireland asked.

Richard Fabrick, representing Montana, and Robert B. Hipple, a lay member from South Dakota, agreed with Ireland.

Fabrick said he was positive that if the governors of the states prepared an act embodying virtually the same principles as the proposed compact it would be enacted within two years.

"It can become a fact before the compact can be considered by the legislatures of the various states," he said.

More Practical
Fabrick said the people of Montana felt the act of Congress approach to the management of the development program was more practical. It could be amended more readily to fit changing times, he explained.

Gov. Anderson said the compact was a plan under which the states and the federal government are co-partners in management of the development projects.

"In Washington I learned some of the federal agencies didn't like the plan and wanted the compact to be only between the states," Anderson said. "There has been a lot of foot dragging."

Agencies Not Mentioned
He did not mention any agencies by name.

Curtis Olson, Valley City, N.D., said he believes it should be the No. 1 objective of the committee to achieve a compact between the states. Representatives from Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Wyoming agreed with him.

Gov. Norman Brunsdale of North Dakota was elected chairman of the group succeeding Anderson. Brunsdale was unable to attend because of a recent fall at the capitol building in Bismarck.

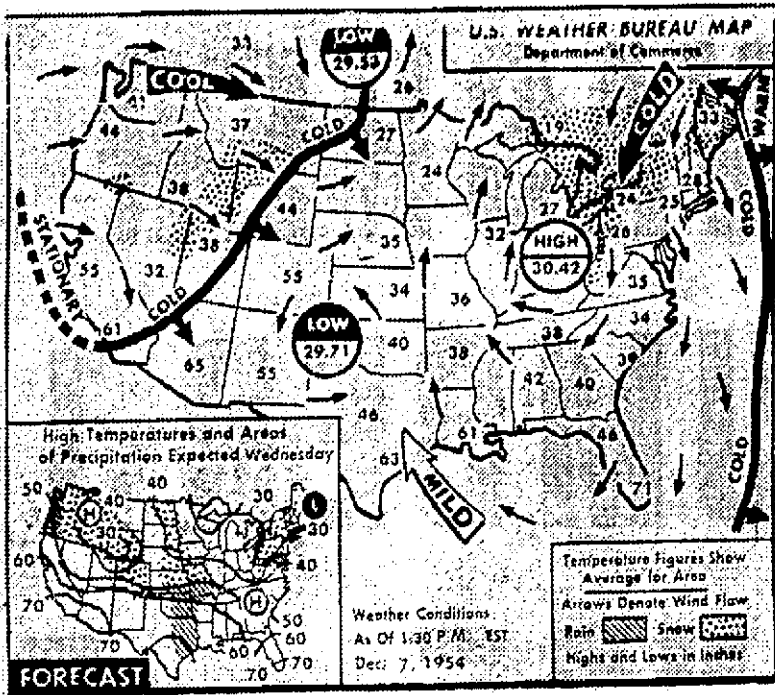

Olson will be secretary-treasurer of the committee next year, succeeding Fred Henson of South Dakota.

Smart Burglars Could Have Had Entire Safe Loot

OMAHA (AP) — More alert safe burglars might have saved themselves an estimated three hours work.

The combination was typed on a piece of paper pasted on the door of the safe at the Ford Sign Co.

The loot for the job was $25 in cash, a $5 check and some frozen food from a deep freezer in the building.

Detectives said the blundering safemen first failed to punch the safe, then began the long job of peeling off the layers of steel and concrete of the door.

Ralph A. Ford, an officer of the firm, said he believed a 7-year-old boy could have done a better job opening the safe.

Mrs. Bopp Dies Few Days Before 100th Anniversary

GREELEY, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Thursday for Mrs. Esther Bopp, who would have been 100 years old had she lived until Dec. 15.

A 100th birthday party had been planned for her at the Cannon Hotel in Greeley, where she had lived for many years.

Mrs. Bopp was born in Liberty, Ind., Dec. 15, 1854. With her husband, Philip Bopp, she came to Nebraska in 1892 and moved to a farm near Greeley. They celebrated their golden wedding in 1927 a year before her husband's death.

Mrs. Bopp had outlived seven of her eight children. The surviving child is Joe Bopp of Champion, Neb.

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP) — A construction project comprised of 470 miles of rural electric lines will be completed about the middle of February, officials said Tuesday.

The contractor, O. T. White of Amarillo, Tex., said it was figured that the lines would be energized by the middle of December.

The lines are located in portions of Cherry, Garden, Hooker, McPherson and Sheridan Counties.

The lines are being financed under a loan from the Rural Electrification Administration. Estimated cost of the project is $150,000.

An authority on Indian legislation, he had practiced law in Omaha since 1908. In 1939, after more than 26 years on the case, he recovered more than $4,000,000 for the Shoshone Indians in a claim against the federal government. The U.S. Supreme Court awarded to him a fee of $459,490 in the case.

Traffic Death To Result In Court Charges

OMAHA (U)—Traffic Inspector Jean Whinnery said Tuesday charges would be filed against Harvey F. Hanson, 28 Omaha, driver of a truck involved in a traffic fatality Nov. 29.

Dimitro Cvetkov, 73, Omaha, died Monday of injuries suffered in the accident.

"If the county does not file, the city will charge Mr. Hanson with failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian," Whinnery said.

After an autopsy Tuesday, Acting County Coroner George Sullivan said Cvetkov died of a ruptured spleen, punctured left lung and fractures of the left hip, ribs and elbow.

Cvetkov was struck while crossing an intersection near downtown Omaha.

Citizenship papers received in 1940 listed the victim's name as Cvetkov Dimitar, but friends in Omaha knew him by his American name, Charles Dimitro.

Accident Victim Spent 4 Hours In Waterfilled Ditch

BEATRICE, Neb. (U)—Herbert Laseur of Burchard, Neb., was hospitalized here Tuesday after being dazed in a truck accident and spending nearly four hours in a waterfilled ditch early Tuesday.

Hospital attendants said he appeared to be recovering but minor surgery was required for severe facial cuts.

Gage County Sheriff Ned Maxwell said Laseur's truck went out of control about a half mile east of Virginia and plunged into a ditch containing about three feet of water.

Maxwell said Laseur, apparently dazed, crawled into the truck bed and laid partially in the water for almost four hours before crawling out and making his way to a farm house where the sheriff was called.

Expensive Journey—

British Paid $560,000 To Get Their Queen Home

LONDON (U)—It cost 200,000 pounds ($560,000) to get the royal yacht finished in time to bring Queen Elizabeth II home from Tobruk at the end of her Commonwealth tour last May, the British taxpayer has learned.

Sir John Lang, a British Admiralty spokesman, disclosed the figure in testimony before the Parliament Committee on Public Accounts.

He said the money was spent paying overtime to shipyard workers.

Final cost of the new yacht—the Britannia—was two million pounds, about 250,000 pounds more than the original estimate.

Committee chairman George Benson, a Laborite, asked Lang: "Am I to take it then, in order to get this ship ready merely to do one journey—that is, to bring the Queen back from Tobruk—we spent nearly 200,000 pounds which otherwise would not have been spent?"

"Putting it in its most unkind form—yes sir," replied Lang.

Blaze Blocks Rail Traffic

OMAHA (U)—Fire early Tuesday made the Chicago and North Western Railway bridge at Grover Street southwest of Omaha impassable for main line traffic.

A. L. Eckles, superintendent of the Nebraska Division at Norfolk, said the north end of the combined wooden and steel structure was charred—making it unsafe for use until repairs are made.

He said trains on the line which runs through Fremont and Norfolk to Chadron would use a detour over Union Pacific tracks until repairs could be completed.

First reports of the fire were relayed to the Norfolk division office by a Union Pacific fireman and to the Douglas County sheriff's office about 2:55 a.m.

Omaha and Ralston firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the north portion of the bridge.

The superintendent said the bridge had wooden approaches and a steel center and the blaze had charred the girder and ties.

Police Chief Richard Knight of Ralston said it appeared the fire "had been set" and railroad officials were investigating.

Moorefield Rail Change Approved

The Railway Commission Tuesday reported approval of authority for the Burlington Railroad to substitute caretaker for agency service at Moorefield.

The Chicago and North Western received permission to cancel pick-up and delivery service at Pierce.

The Railway Express Agency received authority to discontinue its agency at Belmont.

Hearing on the request of Central Electric & Gas Co. of Lincoln for authority to sell up to $1,750,000 in debentures was scheduled for Feb. 8.

Hearing on the request of Wyoming-Nebraska Pipe Line Co. of Cheyenne, Wyo., to issue 22,500 shares of stock also was set for Feb. 8.

Mamie Has President's Gift Ready

By ROSE MCKEE
WASHINGTON (INS) — This is really a tip off to President Eisenhower.

His Christmas present from Mamie is already wrapped and is now carefully hidden some place in the White House.

This much was disclosed Tuesday by Mrs. Eisenhower's secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffrey, who reported that the First Lady has done her Christmas shopping early and is now busy wrapping up presents.

Won't Tell Gift
Mrs. McCaffrey wouldn't give out any further hints about the presidential present. She flatly refused to say what it is, asserting that even Chief Executives are entitled to be surprised on Christmas morning.

Mrs. Eisenhower was described as enjoying wrapping the gifts. She prefers old fashioned red and green in the trimmings but uses a gay printed paper, a generous amount of ribbon and Santa Claus stickers as well as others saying: "Do not open until Christmas."

Buys During Year
The first lady buys her presents during the year and right now those being wrapped are "scattered all over her living room."

Mrs. Eisenhower's gifts for her three grandchildren usually run to clothing—little shirts and sweaters—because she feels the children have more than enough toys.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower expect to send out about 3,000 Christmas cards this year.

Last Year's Pattern
They will follow the pattern of last year when state governors, every member of Congress, the cabinet and the Supreme Court received formal cards from the first family bearing the presidential seal. Personal friends received a holly-trimmed card from "Mamie and Ike."

Mrs. McCaffrey said last year's presidential Christmas card had nothing on it to show it was sent in 1953. But she said this year's cards will have "1954" on them for the benefit of those who keep the White House greeting as a collector's item.

The Eisenhowers expect to trim a Christmas tree in the famous east room toward the end of next week. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President when he lights the outdoor Christmas tree on the White House lawn amid traditional ceremonies on Dec. 17.

Labor Secretary Defends Compulsory Union Membership Idea

... Prohibitive State Laws Hit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell Tuesday defended the idea of compulsory union membership and condemned state laws which prohibit such requirements in labor contracts.

"I believe that when employers and unions representing a majority of their employees agree on 'union shop' they should have the right to have one," Mitchell said in a speech for the CIO convention.

Under a "union shop" all workers must become union members to keep their jobs. The Taft-Hartley Law permits this but allows individual states to prohibit it. Seventeen states, mostly in the South and West, have such "right-to-work" laws and moves to enact them are underway in other states.

Warmly Welcome

The CIO's reaction appeared to be that while Mitchell's opposition to such laws was warmly welcome, unions preferred repealing the Taft-Hartley sanction and thus killing the state laws at one blow.

CIO President Walter Reuther told reporters "the federal government has overriding responsibility in the field of social and labor legislation" and said he believed the Eisenhower administration has "an obligation to seek a change in the Taft-Hartley Law to accomplish what Secretary Mitchell has said."

The trend of Eisenhower administration recommendations in labor legislation has, until now, been toward encouraging more state, and less federal, control over labor relations problems.

Mitchell's speech included a message from President Eisenhower which said "labor union efforts to help strengthen our general welfare... have enriched the lives not only of union members but of millions of Americans."

Program Planned By Highway Board

The seven-member State Highway Commission spent all day Tuesday meeting with State Engineer L. N. Rens and eight division engineers in an effort to program a system of primary roads and one of secondary roads for submission to the Legislature.

Submission of the proposed highway system for the state was one of the principal duties imposed when the Highway Commission was authorized. Work on several roads is now being held up because the routes are not on the highway system as approved by the Legislature.

No Appeal To Moscow

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the United States has no immediate plans to ask Moscow to intervene in the case of the 11 American flyers imprisoned by Communist China. Dulles told newsmen that the time being at least the case is in the hands of the United Nations.

Five Injured In Ashland Accident

HASTINGS, Neb. — Mrs. Hester Schropp, 62, is recovering in a Hastings hospital from injuries received in an accident on Highway 6 east of Ashland. She was one of five injured in the crash.

Mrs. Schropp suffered a neck fracture and head lacerations. She was brought to Hastings from a Lincoln hospital.

Also hurt in the crash, but released from the hospital after treatment for cuts and bruises, were Maxine Longsine, 27, Lenore Schropp, 28, Marilyn Schropp, 13, and David Schropp, 9, all of Hastings.

The accident occurred as the car driven by Miss Longsine and two other cars stopped because of a fourth car which had stopped in the middle of the highway, an investigation showed. The Longsine car was struck from the rear by a car which left 160-foot skid marks, the probe revealed.

No other gas pedal gets action like this!

THIS pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine.

When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you: that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflow Drive, have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

And with the same result in the way you get-up-and-go, with a safety-surge of power for pulling out of a tight spot on the highway. Words just can't describe it. It's a new and thrilling sensation—something you simply must try for yourself.

There's nothing like it on the 1955 new-car horizon.

Fact is, there's a whale of a lot to see at your Buick dealer's showroom.

There's fresh new styling. There's higher horsepower in every Buick V8 engine. There's a new Airpower carburetor. And beneath it all there's good old-fashioned integrity in every nut, bolt and rivet.

But, this year, don't simply make a visit to the showroom where these trim and thrilling new beauties are on display.

The smart thing to do—if you want to know what's what in new automobiles—is to get behind the wheel of a 1955 Buick and drive it. How about doing that soon?

Ike To Seek Broad Economic Aid For Asia As Bulwark Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the Eisenhower administration expects to ask Congress to approve a broad program of economic aid to Asia as a bulwark against Communist expansion.

He made that announcement at a news conference at which he also commented that fear of open war has lessened and that both sides can perhaps give more thought to economic competition.

No Figures

He mentioned no figures and did not say whether loans or gifts would be involved, but other officials have talked of a program in which loans would play a major part. There also have been expressions of hope that allied nations, such as Britain and France, would bear a substantial part of the burden.

Dulles did say, in response to questions, that it was likely that a program of government aid, to be backed up by simultaneous help from private capital, would be sought when Congress reconvenes in January. He said President Eisenhower has approved this principle.

Humphrey Wants Loans

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who is known to believe that any aid program should emphasize loans rather than large gifts of the Marshall Plan kind, told a news conference Monday that "no program has yet been adopted." He said it was still being studied in several departments.

Dulles said Tuesday that only the principle has so far been approved, and details are being worked out.

On other points, Dulles told newsmen:

1. The United States is leaving to the United Nations the question of how to seek freedom for 11 U.S. airmen captured in the Korean War, and sentenced by Red China last month to long imprisonment.

Informal Talks Sought

2. With Britain and France, the United States will attempt to recapture the days when their ambassadors at Moscow could talk informally with high Soviet officials. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, returning Wednesday to Moscow, has authority to seek improvement in diplomatic relations with the Soviet government.

3. The political overthrow of Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida would have no particular effect on U.S.-Japanese relations since basically the friendship of the two countries rests on fundamental considerations of mutual welfare which have nothing to do with personalities.

Unity First

Dulles repeated that the United States and her Allies are ready to meet with the Soviets as soon as the Western European union has become a reality. The idea is that any Big Four meeting before then might tend to undercut the ratification procedure.

Dixon-Yates Site Switched, Adlai Learns

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson learned something new Tuesday about the controversial Dixon-Yates plant—the proposed site has been changed.

West Memphis Mayor H. B. Price told the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee that the plant will be built on the west side of a Mississippi River levee and several hundred yards to the north.

This would place the levee between the proposed plant and the river. The old site was on the east side of the levee.

Stevenson, who visited the site Tuesday, chuckled that "everything about this contract seems in the process of change." He told newsmen he could not comment on the feasibility of either site since it was an engineering problem involving technical information he did not have.

Price said the new plant site is back of the levee and hasn't been flooded since the levee was built.

Stevenson came over from Memphis where he is visiting.

Backers of the Tennessee Valley Authority have attacked the Dixon-Yates contract as an attempt to cripple TVA.

BEFORE YOUR CHILD COUGHS ONCE MORE...

Here's Relief So Different for coughs of colds it will change your ideas about cough syrups!

At last—a new and pleasant cough medicine with a "relief-action" all its own!

Science has combined in a special way a penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The combination means your child gets more relief—faster, more effectively. This new medicine is named Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup—because it medicates as it penetrates.

First spoonful spreads over the throat, relieves scratchiness, soothes away tickling that makes you cough. It also acts through the system to speed breaking up of the cough. Works just as effectively on adult's colds. Everybody likes the flavor! Try it today!

VICKS MEDI-TRATING COUGH SYRUP

in Los Angeles, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Eberhart, before going to Portland, Ore., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Toothaker, and where she will have a glimpse of her newest granddaughter, Stephanie Ann.

Before returning home Mrs. Thorne will spend some time as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arbor Thorne, in Seattle.

LEAVING for San Francisco on Dec. 21, will be Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bell who will spend the holidays with their daughter, Miss Barbara Bell, who is on the advertising and publicity staff of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell will go to Southern California for the Rose Bowl game on New Year's day.

BUT now and then we hear of someone who is coming from California for the holiday season—David Burrell, for instance, who is attending Brown Military Academy at San Diego, and who arrives in Lincoln on Saturday, Dec. 18. Cadet Burrell, by the way, is a senior at Brown, and has the leading role in the academy's Christmas play.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts are looking forward to two weeks hence with considerable excitement—their two sons—one from the east—and the other from the west—

Girl Scout Group To Meet

The troop organization committee of the Lincoln Girl Scout Council will meet Thursday morning at 1940 Connie Rd., rather than on Wednesday morning as previously scheduled. Presiding will be Mrs. James Kissell, committee chairman, and the meeting will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

will both be arriving at about the same time—Dec. 18. Bill Roberts comes from New Haven, Conn., where he is attending Yale, and his brother Tom will come from Colorado A. and M.

MENTION of Colorado reminds us that Miss Ting Lilly, Miss Jean Thomas, and Miss Lois Srb, all will be arriving from Denver, where all three are members of the public school faculty, in time to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lilly, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Srb.

JUST learned that one of our late winter brides, Miss Earlene Luff, whose marriage to Arthur Knox will be solemnized on Feb. 19, is to be honored this evening when Miss Sally Warren and Miss Jane Deppen entertain at the home of Miss Warren. The bride-elect will be presented with a linen shower—

Farmers To Harvest New Crop Next Year: Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most American farmers will start harvesting a strange new crop next year: social security. In effect, this brings a far-reaching new era to agriculture.

For more than 20 years of mushrooming growth, the federal system for retirement or death benefits hardly scratched the surface on the farm. Fluctuating, hard-to-figure incomes, a tendency toward scant bookkeeping, and shifting workers presented special problems considered too tough to tackle.

Problems Ironed Out

Now, officials believe, these problems have been ironed out. The new social security law extends coverage to an estimated 3,600,000 farm operators—people farming for themselves; and to about 2,100,000 farm laborers—people doing farm work for others.

In the past, only about 700,000 farm laborers have been covered; in the future, all but about 700,000 out of a working farm population of roughly seven million will be covered.

Made Payments

Those who are covered, and their employers, will make regular payments to the Old Age and Survivors Insurance system OASI. In return, they can get monthly benefits when they retire at age 65, or if they die beforehand, their survivors can get monthly benefits. These benefits range from $30 monthly for an individual up to $200 monthly for a family.

Fur Cape Taken In Store Restroom

A $300 muskrat fur cape owned by Mrs. T. E. Adams Sr. of Denver was stolen from the restroom at Miller and Paine, police said.

The woman told police that she took off her cape in the restroom and went to the lavatory to wash her hands. On returning she discovered the valuable fur missing.

Here are the rules:

In the past, farm operators have not been covered at all. Starting Jan. 1, 1955, they are covered if they make as much as $400 profit a year.

They will be required to make a special social security tax return when they file their regular income tax return. Thus, the first return will be due early in 1956.

Special Privilege
The farm operators get a special privilege. If their total income for the year is below $1,800, they don't have to figure their net income or actual profit. They can just report half their gross income. If they do figure their net income, they can report that. In other words, the choice is up to them.

If total income is above $1,800, the farm operator must figure his net income or profit. If these net earnings are less than $900, he has another choice. He can report his actual earnings, or $900—which ever he chooses.

Both his taxes and his benefits will depend on his reported income. He pays a special social security tax of 3 per cent of his reported income, up to $4,200 a year. His benefits will be based on his average income over the period he is covered. The higher the income, the bigger the benefits.

FARM LABORERS

Under the old law, farm laborers were covered if they were "regularly" hired by one employer and received cash wages of $50 or more from that employer in a three-month period, or quarter. The definitions were complex and records had to be kept over a long period to determine if a worker were covered.

$100 By One Employer

Under the new law, the simple test is that the worker, to be covered, must be paid $100 by a single employer in a calendar year. The employer must deduct 2 per cent of these wages when they are paid, and add another 2 per cent of his own. The employer turns all this over to the government. The worker himself has no returns to make.

If a worker earns $75 a year from one employer and $75 from another, he is not covered. If he earns $150 from one employer and

Tennessee Requests 'White Christmas'

ALDEN, Minn. (AP) — A request for the sheet music to "White Christmas" and two other songs has convinced the mother of a former American soldier who refused repatriation after the Korean fighting that her son is "very homesick."

Mrs. Portia Howe received the request at her home here in a letter from Pfc. Richard Tennessee, 21, her son by a previous marriage.

Special Meaning

"He asked for the sheet music to 'White Christmas,' 'Winter Wonderland' and 'Dear Hearts and Gentle People,'" Mrs. Howe said. "The songs all have special meaning in our family."

"He was in a nostalgic mood when he asked for them. I have no doubt but what he's very homesick."

Picking Up Customs

The farm wife who went to Japan hoping to talk with her son after he refused repatriation reported Tennessee said in his lengthy letter that he had been living right with the Chinese people while working in a paper factory south of Peking. "I'm picking up their traditions, customs and habits slowly," he told his mother.

Tennessee enclosed for his brother and sister a picture of himself drinking a cup of tea at a Chinese tea shop. "Here's to you," he wrote on the back of the picture, "with all the love I can muster to Jan and Eben."

Hastings Opens Season With Easy 73-58 Romp

Lincoln Star Special

HASTINGS—The Hastings Broncos got off to a fast start for the 1954-55 season with an easy 73-58 win over St. Benedict's Tuesday night. It was the third loss for the visitors.

Hastings went in front after the first two minutes, 6-5, on a basket by Chuck Stickels and two charity tosses by Hilly Beck and were never headed.

The Broncos led, 39-24, at half-time and charged ahead, 49-24, before St. Benedict's could score with 3:50 gone in the second half. The losers closed the margin to 11 points at 56-45 with 7:11 left but then the Broncos pulled away to stay.

Stickels, returning to action after a tour of service duty, led the winners offensively with 26 points, 17 of which came in the first half. He and Beck, who contributed 16 points, also led the Bronco rebounding.

Joe Teasdale was high for the losers with 15 points, while Buddy Lord, only returning veteran from last year's championship squad, added 14 points before fouling out with 5:44 left.

Bobo Gets 'Fighter Of Year' Kudo

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, Tuesday was voted the "Fighter of the Year" for 1954 by the Boxing Writers Association.

The 26-year-old, Hawaiian-born Olson will receive the award at the association's annual dinner at the Hotel New Yorker, Jan. 13.

Olson, now a San Francisco resident, puts his title on the line for the third time this year on Dec. 15 against France's Pierre Langlois at San Francisco.

A busy fighter in the ring, and truly a fighting champion, Olson won the 160-pound title by walloping England's Randy Turpin in New York, Oct. 21, 1953.

He whipped Cuba's Kid Gavilan in his first defense in Chicago, April 2, and followed up with a decisive triumph over Cleveland's Rocky Castellani, the No. 1 contender at the time, in San Francisco, Aug. 20.

23 For 23 Free Throws New Mark

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Carl Hartman did more than help Alderson-Broadbent win a basketball game Monday night when he made good all 23 of his free throw attempts.

The 5-11 senior from Ridgeley, W. Va., topped a major college record for consecutive free throws, although his performance against Salem College won't go into the record books.

Records of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. showed Tuesday that the major college record is 18 out of 18, a mark set by Jay Handlan of Washington & Lee in 1950.

Hong Kong To Olympics
HONG KONG (AP)—The Hong Kong Football Assn. announced Tuesday it will send a 20-man soccer team to compete in the Olympic Games in Australia in 1956.

Reynolds' Scoring Record Is Bested

NEW YORK (AP)—Sophomore Art Luppino's 166 points for Arizona have made him the fourth highest scorer in major college football history and the season's leader by a runaway margin.

Final NCAA service statistics released Tuesday show that Luppino, with 24 touchdowns and 22 conversions, scored more than his next two closest rivals combined. Buddy Leake of Oklahoma tallied 79 points for the second spot while Tom Bell of Army and Lenny Moore of Penn State tied for third with 78 each.

In 1920, Jim Leach of VMI set the all-time record of 26 touchdowns and 210 points. The great Jim Thorpe had 198 points for Carlisle in 1912 and Neno Jerry Deprato scored 188 for Michigan State in 1915.

The previous modern day scoring high of 157 was set by Bobby Reynolds as a sophomore at Nebraska in 1950.

Johnson Outpoints Cuba's Mederos

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Light-heavyweight contender Harold Johnson of Philadelphia outpointed Cuban heavyweight Julie Mederos of Havana in a fast-moving 10-round bout at the Auditorium Tuesday night.

Johnson weighed 175½ and Mederos 189½ pounds.

Mederos opened up fast with a barrage of punches in the first round and landed five good rights to Johnson's head to take the round easily. Johnson came out in the second and began boxing beautifully and stayed in command to the finish, using a hard left jab and straight right hand as he gave Mederos a sound beating.

Ballet? Net Stars Say 'No Thanks'

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Maureen Connolly's suggestion that tennis musclemen like Tony Trabert and Lew Hoad take ballet lessons brought horrified gulps from the Davis Cup stars Tuesday.

Little Mo, the world ruler of women's tennis, demurely pointed out that the ballet would improve the players' agility on the court.

"Cripes," scowled Trabert. "The next thing they'll be suggesting is that we wear lace panties like Gusie Moran. And with these legs of mine."

"Ballet!" gasped non-playing captain Billy Talbert. "For Pete's sake, I have trouble doing the two-step."

If there is anyone who would not shock the Australians if he came right out and did a ballet number in the hotel lobby, he would be Talbert. The uninhibited American leader has about drained the citizens here of all surprises.

He frequently stops traffic by walking down the street in Bermuda shorts, his knotty Wall-Street knees protruding shamelessly.

Houston Is Looking For 'Big Name' Grid Coach

HOUSTON (AP)—University of Houston officials Tuesday began shopping for a "big name" head football coach.

"We want the best man in the country," said Corbin Robertson, chairman of the University Athletic Committee and member of the Board of Regents.

Robertson, a son-in-law of Hugh Roy Cullen, oilman-philanthropist who has given millions to the university, this afternoon conferred with Athletic Director Harry Fouke on procedures to be followed in selecting a successor to Clyde Lee, head coach the past seven seasons.

Lee submitted his resignation Monday, giving as the reason his dissatisfaction with the 5-5 record of his 1954 team.

Lost Big Name Coach

Robertson said he, too, was disappointed with the 5-5 record but the oilman emphasized:

"I want to make one thing clear: we thought we lost a big name coach."

Robertson said Lee resigned "of his own free will."

Fouke said he hopes Lee's successor can be named not later than January. Spring training is scheduled for February.

Salary apparently is no obstacle in that the university reportedly has lost thousands upon thousands of dollars while building a "big time" athletic program in just nine years.

Your choice of jet block or rich ivory handle—in handsome gift case. Kit includes 24 Hydro-Magic Gold Blades in handy automatic injector.

This new long-handled razor is astonishing—even to us! We knew that the longer handle would make our Hydro-Magic razor better looking and easier to handle. But we didn't realize what a truly superlative shaving instrument we had developed—until the first users told us. Their reports were unanimously full of the highest praise—"best shave ever"—

"smoothest, closest shave I ever had outside a barber's chair"—comments like that. It's a great razor—and a great gift! He's never seen it before! Just watch his face light up when he sees first the handsome gift case—then, the graceful long-handled Hydro-Magic '500' itself! It's Merry Christmas, indeed!

N.U. Matmen Tourney Set

University of Nebraska wrestle coach Don Strasheim has scheduled an intersquad tournament Dec. 16, and the prospects are for at least 30 competitors.

Among the early candidates working out are Larry Goll, 177 pounds, and Arnold Morton, 157 pounds.

Nebraska's Orange Bowl football date has upset Strasheim's timetable somewhat. Since he doubles as guard coach on the grid team, Don will have to drill his grapplers in the evenings when football practice resumes.

Charley Bryant, All-Big Seven guard and wrestle veteran, will be counted on heavily by Strasheim, but Charley won't report until after the Orange Bowl game.

Twelve matches are scheduled. The slate:

Jan. 14—at Mankato, Minn.; 21—at Colorado State; 22—at Colorado; 29—at Camp Carson, Colo.; Feb. 4—at Iowa; 5—at Iowa State Teachers; 7—at South Dakota State; 11—at Kansas State; 25—at Cornell (Ga.); 28—at Wisconsin; March 3—Iowa State.

The Big Seven Conference championships are held at Colorado this year on March 11 and 12. The NCAA is set for March 25 and 26.

Race Board Meets

The State Racing Commission met Tuesday to begin hearing counties and associations wishing to sponsor racing meets in 1955.

Commissioner Ralph Bommer said two days have been set aside to hear agencies wishing to sponsor meets. He predicted the 1955 meet schedule would be completed by Thursday.

Patterson, Troy Sign

NEW YORK (A)—Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender, and Willie Troy, 21-year-old Washington middleweight, Tuesday were signed for an eight-round bout in Madison Square Garden, Jan. 7.

Plainsmen To Illinois For 'Toughest'

Nebraska Wesleyan University's Plainsmen—victorious in their initial 1954-55 hardwood starts—move into Illinois this week for what could prove to be the toughest competition of the current schedule.

Thursday night the Plainsmen face Wheaton College of Wheaton, Ill., always a threat in the College Conference of Illinois, and on Saturday they meet Northern Illinois State Teachers at DeKalb, a perennial threat in the Illinois Intercollegiate loop.

Behind Norm Pott, Helms Foundation-National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics first team all-America choice last season, the Crusaders romped to a 15-7 season under Coach Lee Pfund.

But Pott is missing this year as are two additional regulars from a year ago, and Coach Pfund has stamped this year's outfit as "the greenest I have coached at Wheaton."

Young Team

Northern, under new Coach Bill Healy, is a young team. The Huskies compiled a 5-14 record a year ago under Coach Gil Hertz but inherited fine scoring power from Illinois high schools this year and appear ready to romp.

Northern dumped Wheaton by a single point 89-88 in an opening tilt for each team Thursday night.

N.U. Swim Meet To Test Grinnell

Nebraska's swimming team will get its first test Saturday against Grinnell College at Grinnell, Ia.

The squad making the trip will include Cal Bentz, Hastings; Dave Gradwohl, Dave Lynch, Wyman Kenagy, Bob Sandstedt, Dean Honeman, George Bomper of Lincoln; Bill Tagney, Omaha and Gordon Peterson, Auburn.

Time trials this week will determine whether Hugh Barnard, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Dick Hildek, Hastings and Rich Hill, Omaha, will make the trip.

Strauss Defends Dixon-Yates Pact—

'Profit Limit Makes Contract Better'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (U)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission declared Tuesday a $600,000 annual profit limit in the Dixon-Yates power contract has made a good contract better.

Strauss earnestly defended the power agreement in a news conference attended by Sen. Anderson (D-NM), a Dixon-Yates contract critic who will be chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee in the new Congress.

Anderson lauded Strauss' defense of the pact, saying he knew Strauss to be a man of "great intelligence and integrity beyond question." He said he believed that when he voted to confirm Strauss' appointment as AEC chairman "without question" and he still felt

6 Moslems Go To Gallows For Plotting

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—Two husky black-garbed executioners Tuesday hanged six members of the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood convicted of plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and to overthrow his military regime by killing off scores of army officers.

The sentences, pronounced by a military court Saturday, were carried out at Cairo's military prison despite protests pouring in from many parts of the Moslem world.

Tinsmith First

The first to die was Mohamud Abdel Latif, a little tinsmith who fired eight bullets at Nasser in Alexandria Oct. 26 without hitting him.

He was followed to the gallows by Youssef Talaat, head of the brotherhood's secret order and alleged mastermind of the plot.

Sheik Mohamed Farghali, another of the condemned men, was named by Talaat in his confession. Talaat's confession also clinched the removal of Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib from the presidency of Egypt on the charge he had approved the plot against Nasser by the brotherhood, a political-religious organization advocating that governments be run on precepts laid down by the Moslem bible, the Koran.

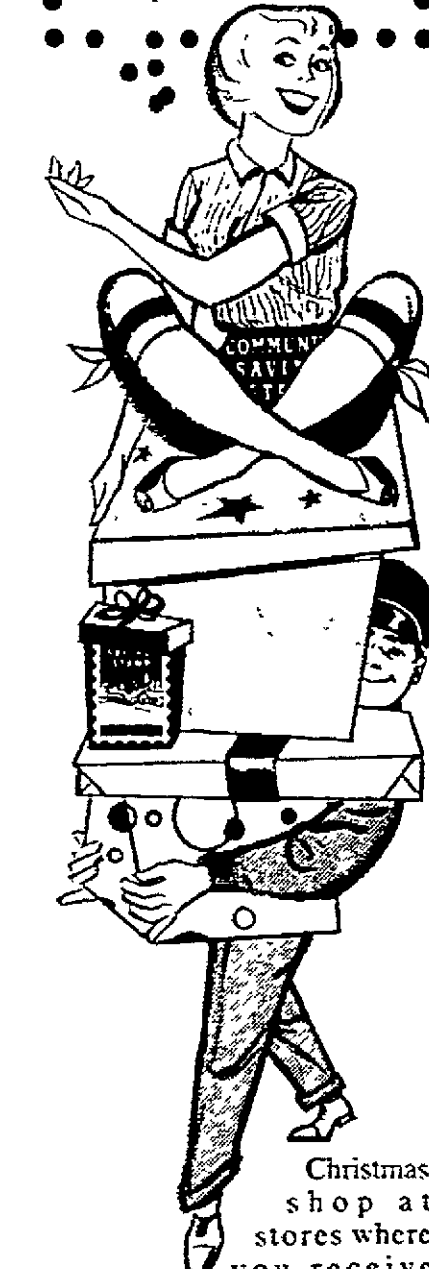

Syria Renewed Plea

The others executed were Ibrahim Tayeb, head of the brotherhood's secret order in Cairo, Hindawi Duwer and Abdel Kader Oda.

Syria renewed her efforts to get the sentences commuted right up to the eve of the executions. In Khartoum, capital of the Sudan which Cairo wants joined to Egypt, 40 senators and members of the House of Representatives belonging to the majority bloc adopted resolutions deploring the death sentences and the removal of Naguib, who was born in Khartoum.

16 Nebraskans In Revenue Shuffle

Names of 16 U.S. Internal Revenue collection officers in Nebraska, including four Lincoln men, being transferred under a nationwide reshuffling of IRS collection officers have been disclosed.

IRS headquarters in Washington has announced about 200 collection officers from widely scattered "overstaffed" points are being transferred across the nation where shortages are considered to exist.

E. A. Hayes, of Omaha, assistant district director for Nebraska, said in Lincoln the transferees in this state are:

From Lincoln—Floyd G. Boswell, Elmer E. Logemann, Herbert E. Norris, and Harold L. Vermass.

From Omaha—Milton C. Benson, C. Sherman Johnson, Joseph M. Harris, Morgan W. Ward, Harry S. Janger, Joseph G. Adams, Eugene F. Sullivan, and Paul J. Saf-ranek.

From other state points—A. L. Hagelbarger at Fremont; James R. Skinner at Nebraska City, Charles P. Cronin at North Platte and Paul Cronin at McCook.

Hayes said all Nebraska men are being transferred to Chicago effective next Jan. 10 under IRS orders.

Selection for transfer was made under the retention register, a Civil Service process based on seniority, veterans preference, and grade.

W. B. Rumbolz, chief of the Lincoln office, said the Lincoln men being transferred have service with his office ranging from five to nine years.

Rumbolz declined comment as to whether the Lincoln office had been "overstaffed" but explained "We could have used these men, but apparently there's a greater need elsewhere."

All transfers concern grade 7 employees who earn from $4,205 to $5,330 per year, according to

Annual Meet For Watershed Congress Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Watershed Congress, composed of representatives of 25 non-federal organizations interested in watershed development, Tuesday concluded its first meeting and informally agreed to hold annual sessions.

Although there was no formal decision, there was general approval of suggestions put to Chairman Waters S. Davis Jr. of League City, Tex., that similar meetings should be held each year.

The 250 delegates passed no formal resolutions or motions during the two-day session nor did they discuss individual projects. Purpose of the meeting was to explore ways of implementing the small watershed program of flood prevention and soil conservation enacted by the last congress.

The act provides for federal aid to local groups in building small dams and practicing various conservation land treatments on the upper reaches of river valleys.

Sponsors of the watershed congress include such varied organizations as the AFL and CIO, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and National Association of Manufacturers and wildlife groups.

The meeting concluded with a question and answer period on organization of local watershed associations as means of publicizing the work of such groups.

Union Bank Claims Discrimination On Taxes; County Board Asks Legal Help

The Union Bank at 4747 Prescott has filed with the Lancaster County Board a claim for refund of that portion of its 1954 personal property tax paid in excess of four mills on its capital stock valuation.

The bank paid $1,931 to the county treasurer in personal taxes, of which $321.83 is retained for the county.

The claim was referred by the board to the County Attorney's office for legal analysis and opinion.

The bank states that its paid tax was computed upon capital stock at 8 mills, whereas all other corporations are taxed at the rate of 4 mills.

The bank contends that 8 mills is unconstitutional as a discrimination against banks, industrial loan, investment and trust companies, and thus it is entitled to refund of taxes paid exceeding the 4-mill basis under which all other corporations are taxed.

In the alternative to a refund of taxes in excess of four mills on capital stock, the bank contends the 8-mill tax should be the only personal property tax and in lieu of all other personal property taxes. It states that paid tax also "includes computation upon other assets of this corporation."

The tax refund claim for $108.78 made by the Hompes Tire Co., of Lincoln, was also referred to the County Attorney.

Basis of the refund claim is the $62,750 valuation assessed by the county and the $35,350 valuation as reported by the company.

Hompes and other Lincoln car dealers have suits pending in Lancaster District Court contesting the legality of the State Tax Commissioner's motor vehicle valuation schedule for assessing used car inventories.

U.S., Allies Push For U.N. Vote Seeking Release Of 11 Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United States and its Korean War Allies pushed hard Tuesday for the largest possible U. N. vote favoring their resolution seeking release of 11 American airmen held as spies by Red China and condemning their detention.

The resolution denounces the trial and imprisonment of the airmen as well as the detention of all other captured U.N. personnel, as a violation of the Korean armistice. It calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for their release and report back by Dec. 31.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, Tuesday handed Hammarskjold the resolution, which was agreed upon Monday by the United States and the 15 other U.N. members who fought the Reds in Korea. At the same time the machinery of these delegations was set in motion to obtain a large vote as a demonstration to the Communist Chinese of world disapproval.

Final Vote
The Assembly will convene Wednesday at 3 p.m. in an unusual meeting to take up the resolution, sponsored by the United States.

Citizens Council Officers Re-Elected

All officers were re-elected Tuesday at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Nebraska Citizens Council, Inc.

Guy L. Cooper Sr., Humboldt, is president; Lloyd E. Skinner, Omaha, vice president; C. W. Battey, Lincoln, treasurer, and Tom Leadley, Lincoln, secretary.

Members of the board of the non-profit tax study organization were elected last week at the annual meeting. Re-elected to the board then, in addition to those who are officers, were H. E. Campbell, Lincoln; H. L. Gerhart, Newman Grove, and Earl I. Mead, Scottsbluff. New members elected to the board then were C. J. Reynolds, Fremont, and Vantine James, Nebraska City.

There were no staff changes. Robert Armstrong is executive director and Leonard D. Brondor director of research.

The resolution does not mention two other men whose sentences were announced by the Chinese at the same time as those of the 11. Those two were not under the U.N. command.

The resolution avoided a direct condemnation of China for the sentences of the 11 men but it lumped the case of the 11 and an undetermined number of other prisoners in a general condemnation as a violation of the armistice.

It requests Hammarskjold "in the name of the United Nations, to seek the release, in accordance with the Korean armistice agreement, of these 11 United Nations Command personnel and all other captured personnel of the United Nations command still detained."

Hammarskjold, asked at a news conference if he would go to Peiping, if necessary, to intercede for the fliers and other personnel, would not give a direct answer and he would not discuss the role set for him in the resolution, saying he had not had time to study it.

It was expected by diplomats he would attempt to get results by direct communication or by going through a neutral country such as Sweden, his home government, India or Switzerland.

3 Corporations Seek County Road Vacation

Three corporations have petitioned the Lancaster County Board for the vacation of that portion of County Road No. 600 between 27th Street and the county bridge at Dead Man's Run.

Petitioners are Builders, Inc., Charles Schnieber & Sons, Inc., and the Burlington Railroad Co.

Atty. C. Russell Mattson told the board the greater portion of the road (1,800 feet) fronts on the site for the C-G Grain Elevator Co. elevators.

Mattson said the road will become useless because of the intention to build a spur track nearby and all abutting property owners have joined in the petition.

Vacation is proposed under state statutes where section line roads are not involved and other roads within one-half mile are available.

Rights of the City of Lincoln and Sanitary District No. 1 for the construction or maintenance of lines and utilities on the property will be preserved in the proposed vacation, he said.

An access road from Adams Street for the elevator property is being worked out with the Kingery Construction Co., Mattson added.

The board referred the petition to County Engineer Louis Weaver for his report and recommendation.

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—W. D. O'Keefe, Wood Lake, purchased the grand champion bull of the Western Nebraska Hereford Association's semi-annual show for $1,350.

The reserve champion bull, owned by Donald W. Forney, Lake-side, was bought at auction by Merrill Hebbert, Ellsworth, for $950.

Henry Steffensen, Chadron, purchased the grand champion female for $410 from Vernon C. Jones & Sons, Henry.

The 58 bulls shown brought an average of $501. The three females averaged $220.

Many GOP Solons Jump To Defend Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many Republican senators sprang to the defense of President Eisenhower Tuesday after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) accused the chief executive of showing weakness toward Communism.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said McCarthy's outburst "shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday," while Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) called it an "inflammatory statement."

Others deplored McCarthy's attack as one which could create disunity in the Republican ranks and give comfort to the Red world. None of the senators who could be reached for comment gave 100 per cent endorsement to McCarthy's assertion that:

"I find the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators

McCarthy's Blast At Ike

By The Associated Press

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) made his explosive statement against the President during a brief appearance at his Investigating Subcommittee's probe of Communists in defense plants.

McCarthy opened Tuesday by expressing thanks for fellow committee members for carrying on in his absence, occasioned by an injured elbow. Then he got down to the meat of the matter:

"In view of the fact that this may be my temporary swan song as chairman of the investigating committee, I think it important to comment briefly upon certain facts.

"Our committee has been held up now for approximately 10 months. The President of the United States has taken it upon himself to congratulate Sen. Flanders and Watkins who have been instrumental in holding up our work.

"There has been considerable talk about an apology to the Senate for my fight against communism. I feel rather than I should apologize to the American people for what was an unintentional deception upon them.

Vigorous Fight

"During the Eisenhower campaign I spoke from coast to coast promising the American people that if they would elect the Eisenhower administration that they could be assured of a vigorous, forceful fight against Communism in government. Unfortunately in this I was mistaken.

"I find that the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons.

"Unfortunately, the president sees fit to congratulate those who hold up the exposure of Communists in one breath and in the next breath urges patience, tolerance and niceties to those who are torturing American uniformed men."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, after consultation with Eisenhower, released an up-dated list of actions the administration has taken against Communists since it went into office. It said "the Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are the principal agents of the government in dealing with subversives."

It said Atty. Gen. Brownell, with the help of the FBI and Immigration and Naturalization Service, has:

Convicted 50 Communist party leaders and indicted 49 more.

Ordered the addition of 62 organizations to the subversive list, for a total of 255.

129 Deported

Indicted one person for treason, convicted two of espionage, convicted 10 for making false statements to the government and three for perjury.

Deported 129 alien subversives and issued orders for deportation of 410 with records of subversive activity or affiliation.

Started denaturalization proceedings against 49 naturalized citizens accused of being subversive and barred from this country 172 subversive aliens who had tried to get in.

who hold up the work of our (Red-probing) committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who led the floor fight against Senate condemnation of the Wisconsin senator's conduct, came closest when he commented, "I hardly think it is necessary for the chief executive to be warmly congratulating anyone in this unfortunate affair . . . in this political trial, and that is all it was, the 96 senators were not the judges. The American people were the judges . . . McCarthy stands vindicated before the jury of the American people."

Several senators who voted against condemning McCarthy rallied to the President's support. One of them was Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who told a reporter:

"I disagree with Sen. McCarthy that the Eisenhower administration has not fought communism at home and abroad . . . I agree with the administration that extreme measures must not be taken in the prisoner situation unless it is absolutely necessary."

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), who also voted against condemnation, said, "when anybody accuses Gen. Eisenhower of not fighting communism, they don't know the man."

"I just regret the attack," commented Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the conference of all GOP senators and another who voted against condemnation.

There were Democrats who took a more lighthearted view. "The plot thickens," said Sen. Green (D-R.I.). Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) said, "I see no point in getting mixed up in a wrangle between the President and a senator of his own party."

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) expressed deep concern "in any attack from whatever source that in any way impugns the loyalty of the President of the United States."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), reached at Delray Beach, Fla., said the administration has exerted "every effort possible against communism" and that he knows there was "no justification" for McCarthy's remarks.

The man who initiated the censure proceedings against McCarthy, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), commented that the Wisconsin senator declared political war—"he wishes a split."

"It will be most interesting to see who the senator's allies in this war are," Flanders continued. "He must have allies. It is not conceivable that the senator is fighting this war as a lone wolf."

WISHING WELL By William J. Miller

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur "Bugs" Boer

We have been studying this co-existence business. Like nursery building blocks it can spell something accidentally.

It means living side by side, which is not the fat question. The giant quiz is how many on a side.

We repeat that the lamb has waited many a weary semester for the lion to drop that other shoe. Ever since U.N. started the smaller nations have been ceiling-spotters.

Foster Dulles has been room clerk at the co-existence zone. Moscow has been his busiest customer for the no sale pop-up.

The Russian diplomats are a sturdy race who repair watches on an anvil.

All the time they have been giving up lip service with the brr-rr-rr-rack for an encore. Thirty

Winter Wheat Helped By Panhandle Snow

Snow in Nebraska's Panhandle last week brought "some benefit" to winter wheat, government crop observers said Tuesday.

And although the crop is maintaining its high average condition, there still is need of moisture before the wheat goes into the dormant stage for winter, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Most of the 2 to 4 inches of snow which fell over the Panhandle Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 remained on the fields. Valentine received the most snow—nine inches.

A little western Nebraska wheat hasn't enough growth for protection against wind, but most of the crop has an unusually good top growth as well as root development. The moisture need is greatest in southwestern and central Nebraska.

Other crop report observations: The dry, mild autumn has spurred most farm work. Considerable plowing and liming of soil has been done.

The highest yield of milo reported to the office so far was 114 bushels per acre, from a south-central Nebraska field.

One central Nebraska report says farmers with irrigation wells have been watering alfalfa and wheat fields.

Pasture conditions showed little change last week, although snow removed the dust and softened range feed.

Autumn weather has been favorable for feeding livestock and for fall farrowing. October cattle slaughter totaled 152,000 head compared with 161,000 in October last year.

November was warm and dry, with temperatures averaging about 2 degrees above normal in the southwest to more than 8 degrees above in the north-central portion.

Precipitation throughout the state during the past week included:
